It is very difficult to read the manuscript dating (which has been scrawled) with real certainty. Not every strip provides the year of use, but the above is my best shot. I'm fairly sure that the perforated and the coarse roulette run in a single control sequence with the method of separation optional. I have separated them purely as a matter of convenience.

It seems that the switch from block watermarked to unwatermarked paper occurred in 1883-84. They are recording the month by using twenty-four divisions in a fiscal year (beginning on July 1st) and are using the calendar year.

The Lee Brandom catalogue is very confused in the section outlining the "Quebec N-14" strips. I'm sure that many of the strips collected as unwatermarked have simply missed the sheet block watermark. There are truly unwatermarked strips which occur on horizontal mesh paper.
